PREFACE.

In publishing this work, it has been our aim to present such information of the history, rise and progress of Polk county, and the city of Des Moines as would make it valuable, not only to the citizen but to the immigrant.

We are indebted to ISAAC COOPER, PETER NEWCOMER, and BENJAMIN BRYANT, and other old settlers: and to the various county and city officials for their numerous courtesies in preparing the historical sketches contained herein.

We would invite special attention to the business houses whose advertisements are published. They represent the energy, progress and enterprise of our growing city. We confidently believe they will do all and only what they promise. We can safely recommend them to the people.

In compiling this book it is expected errors would exist, yet much effort has been made to avoid them. In every instance the precise locality of residences has not been given, because of the want of complete numbering of the streets. It is hoped this first attempt at a directory of the Capital City, will meet with the approval of our citizens.

HISTORICAL

That section of country, which now comprises the county of Polk, was included in the purchase made of the Sac and Fox Indians. By treaty stipulations they were removed from the eastern portion of the State. Here they were to remain in undisputed possession for three years from the 14th of October, 1842. Shortly after their removal here, it became apparent that encroachments would be made upon them by the Sioux and other surrounding tribes. To protect them from such attacks, and for their further benefit, a military post was established here, and accordingly on the 9th of May, 1843, the steamer Lone, the first that ever sailed to this point, arrived with a body of troops, under command of Capt. James Allen. Immediately thereafter commenced the work of erecting suitable quarters for the soldiers, which extended along the west bank of the Des Moines and Coon rivers. So rapid has been the march of civilization and immigration, that but few of these rude huts remain. One is still to be seen on Second street near the Point.

Soon after the arrival of the soldiers, a trading post was established on the prairie about one mile east of the city, where were three Indian villages, one with Poweshiek as its chief, one with Hard Fish as chief, and one with Keokuk as chief. This latter chief was afterward the successor of the celebrated Black-Hawk. He was said to be a noble specimen of his race and enjoyed the confidence of the Government and respect of the early settlers.

W. G. & O. W. Ewing were the authorized Indian Traders. The American Fur Company also established an agency on what is known as the "Hazen Farm."

Major Besch was Indian Agent, and Joseph Smart, Interpreter, who evinced his admiration of the red man by taking a squaw for a wife.

Robt. A. Kinzie, Dr. T. K. Brooks, Benjamin Bryant, Chas. Weatherford, J. M. Thrift, John Sturtevant, James Drake were among the arrivals in 1843, and were attaches of the garrison and Indian Agency.

During this year, Wm. Lamb, Alexander Turner, John B. and W. A. Scott, arrived with the expectation of locating farms, but the treaty with the Indians was inviolably kept, and they were obliged to await its termination. Permission was given them, however, to reside in various localities, which they accepted, and in various ways managed to support their families, until they were enabled to make their claims.

The following year, a few additions were made to the white settlers, among whom was Peter Newcomer, who arrived in February. But little progress was made, as every one was waiting the coming of the 11th of October, 1845.

By previous arrangement, each settler was permitted to make his claim, by implication, for 320 acres, which was to be respected and held valid.

The signal for the termination of the treaty was the firing of a cannon at the fort. As the hour approached, the settlers scattered to their several claims, and when at precisely twelve o'clock, the booming gun awoke into new life and being this beautiful valley, every man started, with compass in hand, to stake out his claim, and it is said some very good specimens of tall waking was done, the correctness of measurement being governed by the length of strides made by the claimant. So eagerly was the work accomplished, that before day dawned on the morning of the 12th, the stakes were all put down, and before the sun went down, work begun on thousands of acres.

An area of one square mile around the Fort was held in reserve for the use of the Government. One hundred and sixty acres of this land was ceded to Polk county, including all the buildings thereon.

Polk county was organized under a law passed by the territorial legislature in January, 1846, which held its session at Iowa City.

The same year, July 8th, a survey of the town of Ft. Des Moines, was made by A. D. Jones, a rope being used for that purpose.

It embraced that portion of the present city west from Des Moines river to Eighth street, and north from Elm street to Locust. The Des Moines and Raccoon rivers were the eastern and western boundaries.

The same year was laid out the town of Dudley, by Jeremiah Church, a speculative, itinerating genius of that day. Of this enterprise we let Jerry speak for himself. In a sketch of this transaction he says:

"I employed a surveyor and laid out the town of Dudley. I then went to work and built the first frame house in the county of Polk. This was in the year of '46, and part of '47. I sold goods in that house for two years and made money. We had in the village two stores, one grocery, two doctors, and one blacksmith shop.

We all lived here very well until 1851, when there was the great flood, for it rained forty days and forty nights. The Des Moines river overflowed its banks, and was from two to five miles wide, and flooded a number of small villages, including the town of Dudley. We concluded it would not do to make a town where there was danger of being drowned, so I then laid out the town of Carlisle, situated about two miles back from the river, determined to keep my head above water. The citizens of old Dudley then commenced moving into the new town of Carlisle. I however still lived in the town of Dudley. When the water came into the house, I moved up stairs, and lived two weeks. There was a gentleman came down from the Fort in a skiff and run right through the town of Dudley, but I remained until the water went away."

The original entry of that portion of the city which constituted the town of Fort Des Moines, was made by Andrew Groseclbee, James Mount, and Thomas Black as Commissioners for Polk County, May 12th, 1848.

During the first two years after the organization of the county, but little attention was paid to the safe-keeping of records or the doings of county officers, and it is only by dilligent search among old manuscripts, scraps of paper here and there, which seem to have been laid carelessly away, that the compiler is enabled to present any report of their doings during the years 1846 and 1847. Sufficient however, has been gleaned to show that the first election held in Polk county, was on the first Monday in April, 1846, the polls being opened in one of the dragoon buildings near the Point. The number of votes polled on that occasion was one hundred and seventy-five. It is estimated the entire population of the county at this time was about three hundred. There were then elected,

John Saylor — Probate Judge.

Thos. Mitchell — Sheriff.

James Phillips — Coroner.

A. D. Jones — Surveyor.

Thos. McMullen — Recorder.

Wm. F. Ayers — Treasurer.

G. B. Clark — Assessor.

Adison Michael — Collector.

Benj. Saylor, Wm. H. Meacham, F. W. Fouts, Commissioners.

The officers were elected to serve until the next election, which took place the following August.

The returns of the election were made to the "Right Honorable President of County Commissioners," who appear to have been the grand embodiment of power and greatness in those days.

At this election Adison Michael and Sanford Starr were elected Justices of the Peace, who filled the first office of the kind in the county. Hitherto all transactions in law and equity were settled by the military code.

The first case tried before a Justice was April 28th, 1846, before Adison Michael, wherein the United States was plaintiff and Campbell Rieves defendant. It was a complaint for search warrant, to recover stolen goods. The Sheriff made return that neither goods nor defendant were to be found.

The first District Court held in the county was convened April 6th, 1846, in one of the garrison buildings on the Point. This was a part of the second Judicial District, Hon. Joseph Williams acting as Judge. The first business of the court was to provide a seal. After deliberation it was ordered that "the eagle side of a twenty-five cent piece of American coin be the seal of said court until a proper one can be procured." It is not a little strange that at the present time it would trouble the court as much to procure a twenty-five cent piece for a seal as it did then a proper one, such an article being seldom seen except in the archives of Historical Societies.

The records of this court show but little business done. A Grand Jury were impannelled, but presented no bills. They were discharged and the court adjourned the second day to the September term, at which time P. M. Casady was admitted to the practice of law.

The early records of the Probate Court were kept in a confused and unsystematic manner, and it was not until the election of Hon. Byron Rice that they were compiled in a record.

The first case in the Probate Court was in the matter of the estate of Lumina Scott, deceased, Wm. Rickey acting as Judge, he being elected in August, 1846, and bears date September 12th following his election.

The first Court House was erected in 1848, and was located on a lot south of the present Court House, purchased by Thos. McMullen for thirty-five dollars. John Saylor was the builder. It was occupied until the new Court House was completed, when it was rented for various purposes, until last spring it was torn down to make room for a church building.

It will be seen by the letter of Jerry Church that he claims the honor of erecting the first house in Polk County, but some of the old settlers say the first dwelling house was erected by Wm. Lamb, a short distance east of where Allen's pork house now stands on the bank of the river. It is still to be seen in a very dilapidated condition.

The first citizen's store was opened by Mr. Homie, at an Indian trading House on the east side, which stood in the present street between the woolen factory and Shepard's mill.

The first frame building in the town was erected by Adison Michael in 1847, and was occupied as a store. It now stands near the old American House.

An aged lady informs us that "the first real nice brick house" was built by Mr. Campbell, which is still standing near the Point.

The first mill erected in the county was what is now known as Parmelee's mill. It was commenced in 1844, and for two years was used as a saw mill. In 1846 it was converted into a flouring mill.

Previous to the erection of this mill settlers were obliged to go twenty miles beyond Fairfield, about one hundred and sixty miles distant, to get corn or wheat ground, a trip which required three weeks. Even after the completion of Parmelee's mill Mr. Isaac Cooper was obliged to go to Oskaloosa to get corn and bring it to Parmelee's mill. The water being very high and there being no bridges he took his corn across on floating logs, waiting in his wagon in the open field over night while it was being ground. He then brought it to town and sold it for two dollars a bushel. It was not an uncommon thing for the people to be obliged to wait four and five weeks at the mill at Fairfield for their grain to be ground.

The first mill within the limits of the town was erected by W. H. Meacham on the site where Gilcrest's mill now is. It was propelled by horse power.

In 1846 a post office was established, and Joseph Smart, the Indian Interpreter, was appointed post master. The mail was brought on horseback and in various ways, principally by soldiers. The mail for this section was received at Fairfield and Oskaloosa. The post office was kept at the Indian Agency.

Hon. P. M. Casady, one of the earliest post masters, reports that his pocket or hat usually contained all the mail matter for the "Fort," as this town was then called. Quite in contrast with the present business of the office, which shows the following exhibit, as furnished by Mr. J. Teesdale, the post master :

About 4,500 letters are received, and a like number sent, weekly.—Six daily, three try-weekly, and one semi-weekly mails arrive and depart. About 1,000 weekly papers are received and distributed.—Dailies are received by news-dealers, amounting to over 5,000 per quarter. And 1,200 periodicals are received quarterly. The sale of stamps and envelopes amounts to over $2,200 per quarter. The office contains 1000 boxes and 125 drawers. It is also a collection and draft office, and depository of public funds.

It becoming apparent that Fort Des Moines must become a place of importance, albeit the earliest settlers were told by the Indian Agent that this county would never be settled by white men—the uplands being unhealthy, and the bottom lands half the time under water—a meeting was called on the 22d of September, 1851, for the purpose of incorporating it as a town. The proposition was indorsed unanimously, and P. M. Casady, Rev. Thompson Bird, and L. P. Sherman were appointed a committee to draft a charter which was accordingly done, and in October following, it was adopted by a vote of the citizens.

It was during the month of May in this year, that occurred the great freshet. The Des Moines and Raccoon rivers rose to an unprecedented height, inundating the entire country east of the Des Moines river. Crops were utterly destroyed, houses and fences swept away. Farms were covered with drift-wood and other debris, so that the entire work of the season was lost.

Since this date levees and other barriers have been erected which will in future guard against the recurrence of a like disaster to the prosperity of the county.

A remarkable fact is worthy of mention at this time. An early settler says that while standing on the prairie near the old Fur Company's quarters, an Indian told him he could recollect when almost the entire prairie was an island, being surrounded by the Des Moines river, a branch of which passed along under the bluff near the State House, thence east, forming a junction with the present stream about three miles from the city. The statement seems highly credible, as the bed of a river in this direction is plainly seen at the present time.

By what changes in nature this stream has ceased to flow is unknown. Certain it is like changes are going on all over the west; rivers and lakes are becoming extinct, and many large rivers—even the Mississippi—are becoming less in volume each year.

In 1852 the United States Land Office was established at Fort Des Moines, and the sale of land was immediately commenced. The settlers had previously formed themselves into a mutual protection association to guard themselves against the tricks of sharpers and land-sharks who infested all new settlements, much to the injury and prosperity of actual residents. These harpies were given a positive warning that their presence would bring upon them the severest treatment. It should be recorded here, however, that a large portion of the town of Fort Des Moines had been previously bought at a land-sale at Iowa City in 1848, at which the demands of the above claim association were fully respected.

In 1853, by act of the legislature, Fort Des Moines was incorporated as a town. At this time the town had increased to such importance that attention was turned to it as the Capital of the State. Its central geographical location at once induced the sanction of the people of the State, and in 1854 an act was passed by the legislature designating Fort Des Moines as the Capital of the State. A subsequent convention to revise and amend the State Constitution permanently fixed the Capital at this place. Thereupon commenced a strife between the citizens of the east and west side of the river for the location of the State House. By dint of great zeal, and sagacious maneuvering, the east side gained the point, and immediately a beautiful location was secured, and an edifice entirely unworthy the dignified name it bears, costing near sixty-five thousand dollars erected, which with an adjoining tract of land was donated to the State. It is highly probable that ere many years have passed, the increased growth and prosperity of the State will demand a more commodious building, when the lot known as the "Park" will be adorned with a capitol creditable to the State and the city.

In 1857 a successful movement was made to incorporate the city of Des Moines. An act of incorporation was passed by the legislature, and approved by James W. Grimes, Governor, January 28, 1857. The boundaries of the city were declared to wit. Beginning at the north-west corner of section two, township seventy-eight, range twenty-four, west fifth P.M. Iowa; thence west to the north-west corner of section five, township and range aforesaid; thence south to the south-west corner of section eight, in said township; thence east to the south-east corner of section eleven in said township; thence north to the place of beginning.

The portion of the city east of the river was not included in the original town of Fort Des Moines, and was called Des Moines, a title and the orthography of which, many of the early residents are very tenacious about to the present day, although the city charter sought to expunge all distinctions.

The first election for city officers was held May 4th, 1858, on which occasion W. H. McHenry was elected Mayor.

The site on which the city is built is unsurpassed for beauty and pleasant surroundings. From the two rivers extends a rich and fertile plain, skirted with gently undulating hills, or bluffs which are covered with forest trees, among which nestle beautiful homes. Within the area encircled by these slopes a population of fifty thousand can be amply accommodated with residences and yet be not crowded. Great care has been exercised in beautifying and adorning the residences of citizens, nor have the public streets been forgotten, as the thousands of shade-trees amply testify. Though young in years, the city can boast of numerous costly mansions, and business houses already commanding the trade of many thousand square miles. The citizens are universally and remarkably kind and hospitable to strangers, thereby removing at once those unpleasant conditions which attach to the immigrant on taking up his abode among a strange people.

With a zeal energy and enterprise that is truly commendable, constant and valuable improvements are being made, and almost daily we see rapid strides toward the attainments of older and more populous cities.

The experience of the past has proved this to be a healthy location. The soil is thoroughly drained by the two rivers, and those diseases so common to the west are scarcely known. With the advantages already secured, and soon to be offered, by schools of a higher order, both common and a high collegiate grade, no better inducements can be offered to persons seeking a pleasant home in the west. Manufacturing is yet in its infancy, but the natural facilities with which to operate are here at hand. Unlimited power is furnished by the river which can easily be made available, while underlying almost every foot of the soil is a vast bed of coal. A person has but to provide himself with a pick and shovel to secure an unlimited supply. The geological surveys of the State now going on, show that the great western coal dip, of the State crops out at this point. Every month increases the population of the surrounding country, and insures the success of the capitalist and manufacturer.

To be added to the resources of the county, which must most inevitably inure to the wealth of the city, may be that of petroleum, surface indications of which are found in various sections. Geological surveys have shown that the Des Moines valley is the central dip of the great coal fields of this State. Prof. James Hall, formerly State Geologist of Iowa, some months since said: "If oil should be found in Iowa, it will be high up in the valley of the Des Moines, in the neighborhood of Des Moines city." Surveys and surface indications have since confirmed the opinion of Mr. Hall, and companies have been formed to develop the fact.

The most notable events of the past year, were the completion of the gas works, and the Des Moines Valley Railroad to this city.—Hitherto a spirit of "manifest destiny" seems to have pre-occupied the minds of the people. The Capital was inevitably to be the focus of a great commercial centre, hence, progressive improvement was unnecessary on the part of the citizens of the place. Prices, with a view to prospective growth, were held at exorbitant figures, which amounted to almost a total prohibition of mechanics or capitalists.—By a great oversight in commercial economy opportunities for adding greatly to the wealth and prosperity of the city and county were rejected, and among them one for securing two railroads converging at the best commercial and grain market of the west. Where we could and should have three lines of communication with the great cities of Chicago and St. Louis, the benefit of which would have accrued with incalculable benefit to the town and county, we will now have but two. But the last year has worked a change in public sentiment, and persistent efforts are now made to overcome the errors of the past, with good prospect of immediate success. Public improvements are accepted with a good will, while liberal inducements are offered to capitalists and others, who desire to cast in their lot with this people.

Of the manufactories in the county, the following list has been furnished by the Assistant U. S. Assessor, and are only those which produce in value annually, six hundred dollars or over. Most of them are located in the city of Des Moines:

The election returns of this Fall show the number of voters in the city to be 1,700. Add to this 300 as being absent, and who remained away from the polls, and, according to the usual estimate of five persons for every voter, the city has a population of over 10,000.

Inasmuch as the city is so closely identified with the county, and, the former so much dependent on the latter for its prosperity, and as this book may fall into the hands of those who desire to induce immigration, a few words on the nature of the soil of this valley will not be inadmissible. Theory and practice, in many of the departments of agriculture are widely apart. A thorough knowledge of the chemical analysis of soils does not necessarily make good farms nor farmers. But when we find the teachings of science so exactly according with experiments and practical knowledge, we can not refrain from using them, as they doubly confirm the assertion here made, that no better section of the west can be found for agricultural purposes than the county of Polk. For fertility, richness and depth, it is unsurpassed.

Professor Owen, the eminent Geologist, in his report of Iowa, says

"The prairie country, based on rocks belonging to the Devonian and carboniferous systems, extending up the valley of the Des Moines, as high as latitude 42° 31', presents a body of arable land which for richness and organic elements, for amount of saline matter, and due admixture of earthly silicates, affords a combination that belongs only to the most fertile uplands. Throughout this district the general levelness of surface, interrupted only by gentle swells and moderate undulations, offers facilities for the introduction of all those aids which machinery is daily adding to diminish the labor of cultivation, and render easy and expeditious the collection of an abundant harvest. The soil is found to be from two to ten feet deep averaging four feet, and is inexhaustible in fertility. It produces almost spontaneously every agricultural product, and requires an incredible small amount of labor to secure an abundant harvest. It yields from fifty to one hundred and fifty bushels of corn to the acre—say seventy-five on an average, and other crops in the same proportion."

In support of Professor Owen's theory we can add that on fields in this county last year grew the tenth and fifteenth successive crop of corn and wheat without a sign of exhaustion of the soil.

INCIDENTS OF EARLY DAYS.

We are indebted to Dr. J. G. Weeks, examiner of titles, in this city for the following transactions in real estate, which we doubt not will be read with interest:

The original claim to that portion of the city which now comprises the most valuable, was sold April 24th, 1848, by Robt. A. Kinsie to Perry L. Crossman, E. B. Clapp acting as witness, and Ad. Michael as Justice of the Peace on the occasion, for the moderate sum of five hundred dollars. The property is described as follows:

"From the mouth of Coon River; thence north up the Des Moines river half a mile, to an oak, with Kinsie's initials; thence west, about one mile to an oak, with Kinsie's initials; thence south, to an elm standing alone; thence south-east to an elm on Coon river marked with Kinsie's initials; thence along the meanderings of that stream to the place of beginning, containing about one section."

Among the ancient mortgages on record is one from F. C. Grimmel to John G. Gibson, for five hundred dollars to secure the payment of which was indented the lots where are the present residences of Messrs. Cooper, Scribner, Luse, Morgan, Hippee, Carpenter, Grimmel, Cassidy, Newton, Mrs. McCain, and many others, three horses, three cows and calves, two wagons, one buggy, double and single harness, &c.

The entire block 87, the point, near Coon Bridge, was once sold for eight hundred and sixty-three dollars. The highest price paid for a single lot in the same block was $175 for lot six. In the north-west corner of the city the opposite extreme, the lot now owned by Mrs. Col. Mills was sold the same year for twenty-five dollars. The lapse of a few years has quite reversed the value of this property. What was then valuable as "desirable property," and "corner lots," has become by the mutations of trade, deserted.

Lots 14 and 12, where the Des Moines House now stands, was sold in 1847-8 for $66.

The lot where Hippee's Drug Store stands, in 1848 for $57.

The entire block now occupied by Exchange Block, and building the rear, in 1848 for $65.

The Savery Hotel block was sold in 1848 for $80.

The lot occupied by Allen's Bank, in 1857 for $85, and that east of the bank in 1848, for $40.

Lot 12, block 25, corner of Court Avenue and Third Street, in 1847, to Folsom, for $85, who recently sold it for $8,450,

The corner occupied by Laird's store, in 1848 for $26. The same year Hoyt Sherman's residence lot was sold for $25. In 1847, that of Judge Gray for $80.

The property recently sold by Capt. West for over $10,000, was sold in 1846 for $64,50.

Those lots where the National State Bank and Stacy Johns' Boot and Shoe Store now stands, in 1847 for $40; where Dr. Baker's Drug store, and Mills & Co's Book Store are, in 1848 for $42; and those where J. & I. Kuhn, and the Buckeye store are, in 1848 for $35.

The first white child born in the town of Fort Des Moines was a daughter of Col. Grier, commanding the military post, in an old cabin a portion of which is now standing on the Point.

The first white child born in the county, outside the town, was a daughter of J. M. Thrift.

The first marriage in the town was Benjamin Bryant and Barbary Elvira Birge, June 11th, 1846, at the Cabin of Henry Birge, by Aaron E. Starke, Justice of the Peace.

The first death in the county was a child of Col. Grier.

The first chair made in the county was by Isaac Cooper in 1845.—It is said that three moves are equal to one fire. In his case, one move reduced his family to one chair. The family did very well on week days when Mr. Cooper was engaged in business, but on Sunday it was different. Hence a chair was improvised from a black walnut tree, the bottom being constructed of the bark of trees. It did good service for many years, and is now an heir loom of the family.—Wearing apparel was likewise scarce in those days; in fact none was to be had. So from the tops of old boots, and a saddle skirt discarded by the dragoons, the first pair of shoes were made in the town of Des Moines, and it is now, with considerable pride, the maker, Mr. Cooper, asserts they were the best shoes his children ever had. The first well dug in the county was by Mr. Cooper, with two skillets obtained of the Indians. It was near twenty feet deep.

Other families were obliged to resort to like expedients to supply their necessities. Peter Newcomer, for want of better, made a churn from the bark of a hickory tree. The same tree also furnished a substitute for stove pipe, but unfortunately it would not stand the fire, and a disastrous conflagration came near being the result of a wooden stove-pipe.

It will be interesting to the frequenters of the Methodist Church on Fifth street, to know that where that edifice now stands, was once an Indian race course, a species of gambling at which the red men were great adepts. Possessed of fleet and muscular ponies, though decidedly deceptive in appearance, they rarely, if ever, failed to win the stakes.

NEWSPAPERS.

The first newspaper established in Des Moines, was the IOWA STAR. It was issued in June, 1845, by Messrs. Barlow Granger & Co., from one of the dragoon buildings on Coon river, which was then one of the most popular streets of the city. Mr. Granger informs us that he got along very well in summer, in his cabin, but in winter it was necessary to build fires both under and on the press to work the ink. The circulation of the STAR at this time was about 800. It passed into the hands of Bates & Johnson. The latter died about eight months after assuming control of the paper, and was succeeded by Dr. A. Y. Hull, in August, 1851. In May, 1852, Dr. Hull retired, leaving Curtis Bates sole editor. He so continued until 1854, when D. O. Finch became associated with him. The paper then passed into the hands of Tomlinson & Farnor, who changed its name to IOWA STATESMAN. It passed into the hands of Will Porter, February, 1857, who changed its title to IOWA STATE JOURNAL. The successor of Mr. Porter was Stilson Hutchins, who associated with him Geo. M. Todd. The name was changed to 'IOWA STATESMAN'. During all its various changes and mutations, it has been the organ of the Democratic party.

In 1860 Messrs. Stevens and Hoxie, started the COMMONWEALTH, which subsequently changed its name to the TIMES, and passed into the hands of J. B. Baughman & Co., who afterward sold it to W. H. Merritt, who changed the name and politics to the present STATESMAN. Almost simultaneously with the STAR appeared the FORT DES MOINES GAZETTE, published by L. P. Sherman & Co., but the enterprise not proving a success, it was abandoned, and soon after Peter Myers & Co. established the STATE JOURNAL, which at the end of about one year was suspended, and the Democracy had the only organ in the county, until February, 1856, when Thomas H. Shepherd, now a clerk in the War Department at Washington, established the Iowa Citizen. His associate in the enterprise was A. J. Stevens. In February, 1857, Mr. Shepherd retired and was succeeded by W. H. Farner, as editor, (who had during the previous campaign become a Fremontist,) Mr. Stevens being de facto the proprietor. In May of the same year, the paper went into the hands of J. C. Savery. In August, Mr. Farner parted from the paper, and rumor says he died in the rebel army. He was succeeded by J. M. Dixon, who was sole editor until December 7, when the entire establishment passed into the hands of John Teesdale the present post master. With Mr. Dixon as associate editor, the paper was carried on with uniform success. February 15th, 1860, the name of the paper was changed to IOWA STATE REGISTER. On the 8th of May, 1860, Mr. Teesdale published his valedictory, and the paper passed into the hands of F. W. Palmer, the present proprietor. Meanwhile the city had grown to important proportions, and a weekly paper was a slow coach. To meet the demand for a daily paper, the first number of the DAILY STATE REGISTER was issued January 18th, 1862, with J. M. Dixon as associate editor. Since that date the business of the establishment has grown with the city, and become permanent and profitable.

From the GAZETTE to the present STATE REGISTER, those papers have been the organs of the Whig, Free Soil, and Republican parties, in the order of their succession.

In the Winter of 1859, Wm. Duane Wilson removed the publication office of the IOWA FARMER from Mt. Pleasant to Des Moines, and changed it from a monthly to a weekly paper, Mills & Co. becoming the publishers. In the fall of the same year, the paper passed into the hands of Hiram Torrey, who changed the name to PIONEER FARMER. He was succeeded by W. S. Simmons, who sold out to Mark Miller, who established the IOWA HOMESTEAD. In 1884 the paper passed into the hands of H. W. Pettit, who died the present year, when the paper passed back into the hands of Mark Miller, the present publisher.

The MONTHLY REPORTER, was issued in July, 1858, by N. W. Mills & Co., and continued about three years.

The IOWA SCHOOL JOURNAL, was issued July, 1859, by N. W. Mills & Co., and published monthly in quarto form, until 1862, when it was changed to a Magazine, and so continues, with Mills & Co. publishers. Its editor is Oran Faville, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

February 1st, of the present year, W. S. Petersen removed the TEMPERANCE PLATFORM, a bi-weekly paper, from Dubuque to this city.

CHURCHES.

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Central Presbyterian Church was organized June, 1848, by Rev. Thompson Bird, who was its pastor from that time until October, 1855 when he resigned, and was succeeded by Rev. Wm. W. Wetmore, who preached for a year. The church is now without a pastor, the pulpit being temporarily supplied by Rev. W. W. Wetmore. The church had only six members at its organization, but steadily increased, although several other churches have been formed in part or wholly from its members, until at present it has 82 communicants.

Its services are held at the church on Fourth St., near the Savery House, at 10 A. M., and 7 P. M., of each Sabbath. Prayer meeting on Wednesday at 7 P. M. The Sunday School meets at 9 A. M.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

The First Baptist Church of Des Moines was organized Jan. 18th, 1854, with but fourteen names upon its list of membership. Rev. J. A. Nash under appointment of the American Baptist Home Mission Society was chosen Pastor, which office he continued to fill until his resignation in 1865. The pulpit was then supplied by him and other ministers until April, 1866, when the present Pastor, Rev. L. W. Hayhurst, was elected. The labors of the winter added 100 to the membership—the fruits of a glorious revival.

This church, like the city, has had a rapid but healthful growth. From the small number of fourteen it has reached the comparatively large one of 273, notwithstanding the frequent removal of members to other localities, resulting from the unsettled life of a new country, and the constitution of a separate church by the dismissal of its colored membership in May, 1866. Its condition is now in every respect, and in a high degree prosperous, and it promises to fully occupy the constantly enlarging field of its labors.

Two public services are held on Sabbath, and prayer meetings on Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week. The Sabbath School is large and flourishing with a membership of some 200 and a perpetually large average attendance. Efficient Teachers and Officers and an excellent Library are making the school an aid in church extension.

The first meetings of this body were held in a small Methodist Church. But on the 16th of March, 1856, the Brick church on Mulberry street, north of the Court House, was dedicated as their house of worship after the expenditure of labor and means far from small when compared with the actual strength of the small church struggling against all the difficulties of a new settlement. Here they continued until May 1866, when the house was sold and the church set about the erection of another House more nearly corresponding with the number of her members—her full congregation, and the growth of the city in population and wealth. The house situated at the corner of 7th and Locust streets is now rapidly approaching completion, and by its size and elegance stands forth as one of the chief architectural ornaments of the city. Its cost will probably exceed $20,000.

ST. AMBROSE'S CHURCH.

Catholic Church on 6th street, between Walnut and Locust streets. Pastor, Very Rev. John F. Brazille, Vic. Gen. Residence near the church.

In 1855, Mathias Loras, late Bishop of Dubuque, purchased of Thos. G. Given two lots in the original town of Fort Des Moines, for the sum of $700, with a view of building on them, in the immediate future, a Catholic Church. During the same year, i. e. 1855, a Priest, Rev. Louis De Cailly, now of Keokuk, was temporarily located at Des Moines and the Irish settlement in Warren and Madison counties; but left toward the close of the year. In the Rev. Mr. De Cailly's time there was no more than four or five members of his church in Fort Des Moines.

In March of 1858, he was succeeded by Rev. George A. Plathe, who during the ensuing summer, built what at present forms the great part of the old frame church. In a short time this building proved too small, and in the summer of '58 an addition was made to it, capable of accommodating as many more. In the spring of 1860, Rev. G. A. Plathe visited Dubuque, and Dyersville, where his brother resides, and where also he took sick and died.

Des Moines was then without a Catholic Pastor until the following October, when the present incumbent arrived and took charge of the congregation.

On the last day of March, 1863, the catholics commenced their present magnificent brick church, and had it ready for service by the Fall of 1864. The old church is now occupied by a school, conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. The growth of the Catholic Church in this place, is not certainly behind that of the place itself, rapid though that be. From four or five members in 1855, they have grown so as to be at present date, computed at two thousand; and in a material point of view, their church improvements have kept equal pace with the progress of Des Moines.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The first Presbyterian Church of Des Moines was organized June 4th, A. D. 1848, with the name of "The Presbyterian Church of Fort Des Moines." It was organized by the Rev. Salmon Cowles, a member of the Presbytery of Des Moines, in a log house belonging to John Dean, on the east side of the Des Moines river, with thirteen members—one of whom was elected and installed a Ruling Elder.

This log cabin had formerly been occupied whilst the United States troops were stationed here, as a trader's cabin.

The church had occasional supplies only for two or three years by the Rev. Mr. Cowles, and Rev. Mr. McComb, then stationed at Cass-looksa, till March, 1851, when Rev. G. W. Swan was engaged to supply it for one year giving it one-half of his time. From the termination of this engagement till June, 1853, the church was again without a supply. At this time Mr. J. M. Lippencott, a Licentiate of the Presbytery of Sidney, Ohio, was engaged to supply the church likewise one-half of his time. This engagement continued until February, 1855. The church was organized into a body politic and corporate on the 28th day of November, A. D. 1854, by the name and style of the "First Presbyterian Church of Ft. Des Moines," which is still its title of distinction.

At this time also the preliminary steps were taken for the erection of a house of worship. A building committee was appointed—a lot was purchased—and a subscription of $1200 raised for the purpose. But the Rev. Mr. Lippencott leaving about this time all further efforts were suspended.

In September, 1855, Rev. B. T. Drake arrived upon the ground. Mr. Drake served the church for a year as stated supply, when a regular call was unanimously made out for his pastoral labor on October 5th, 1856, which was accepted, and he was ordained and installed as pastor of said church. April, 1860, Mr. Drake resigned his charge.

April 26th, 1856, the congregation was again called together to consider the matter of church building. With much difficulty and amidst many trials, by subscriptions, personal appeals, correspondence, circulars, and loans, the church was finally completed. Its locality is a good one, being near the heart of the city, on Locust and Seventh streets. The building is a large, substantial brick edifice, and with some important improvements lately made, and others now being made, it will be a commodious and valuable house for religious worship.

From April, 1860, till December, 1860, another vacancy in the pulpit occurred, when Rev. Orlando Clarke was invited to supply it, which he did till the next Spring. Then the church was again vacant from April, 1861, till the Fall of 1862. At this time the Rev. Wm. Scribner, of New Jersey, visited Des Moines, and spending the winter of 1862-3 here for his health, the church invited him to supply their pulpit during this time, which he did.

The pulpit was then again vacant till April, 1864, when by invitation the Rev. D. L. Hughes began his labors here; and a committee of the Presbytery of Des Moines, on June 23d, 1865, installed him pastor of this church. Mr. Hughes' health having failed, and not likely to be permanently restored, in April, 1866, he resigned his charge, and the pulpit was again declared vacant.

The total number of actual members is 46.

Prayer meetings regularly on Wednesday evening. Sabbath School at 9 o'clock.

WESLEY CHAPEL.

Wesley Chapel, M. E. Church, is situated on the East side of the Des Moines river, on Keokuk St., between Seventh St. and Pennsylvania Avenue.

Services each Sabbath. Preaching at 10½, A. M., and 7, P. M. Sabbath School at 2½, P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Rev. H. B. Heacock, Pastor. Residence in the parsonage adjoining the church lot.

This society was organized in the Fall of 1856 by Rev. E. M. H. Fleming with four members. The same Winter a house of worship was erected, and dedicated in February, 1857. Size of the building 26x40 feet. In the year 1863, under the supervision of Rev. P. F. Bresee an addition was made a little larger than the original building and placed across the north end of it, giving it the appearance of wings. The membership now numbers 165. The Sabbath School has an average attendance of over 100. Until 1864 this charge was in the Iowa Conference; but at the session of the General Conference in Philadelphia, in the year above mentioned, by a change in the boundary line between the Iowa and the Des Moines conferences it fell within the limits of the Des Moines Conference to which it now belongs.

The sittings are free and a cordial invitation to strangers, and all others not regularly attending any other place of worship, is extended by its pastor and members.

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

This church was organized Dec. 8th, 1857, by Rev. Joseph T. Cook, who was installed over the church as Pastor, March 10th, 1858. The number of original members was ten. The Society was incorporated January 11th, 1859. Oliver H. Baker, Geo. S. Greene, Henry A. Bigelow, John Teesdale, J. T. Cook, F. Woodruff, Galena T. Kilburn, Stacy Johns, S. A. Stickney, E. W. Barnum, Daniel Carr, C. C. Dawson and Levi Richardson, being the incorporators. Mr. Cook resigned and was dismissed Feb. 23d, 1859, when Mr. J. M. Chamberlain, of West Brookfield, Mass. began his duties as a Pastor. He was ordained Dec. 14th, 1859, installed Dec. 19th, 1860, and resigned the past year. In October of 1866 Rev. H. S. De Forrest was elected pastor of the church.

The church edifice is on Locust street between 6th and 7th.

Services at 10½ and 7½. Sunday School at 2 P. M.

GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH.

In 1858 Rev. John List came on a journey to Des Moines where he found a German protestant population sufficient to organize a congregation. After having received a call, and returning to get permission from his superiors, he came in 1859 to locate here. But there was one difficulty. Its constitution was against secret societies—does not permit them to be members of the church—and thus it happened, that when the congregation, on the 13th of November, 1859, was organized it consisted only of a few families. This Evangelical Lutheran Zion's congregation belongs, together with its ministers, to the German Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Iowa. Rev. J. List worked here faithfully from 1859 till the end of September, 1863. At this time

Rev. J. Letz was called, and began the labor in this field the 22d of November, 1863.

To the congregation belong eleven families, four wives, with their children, four widows, and eight single persons, in all about one hundred souls.

The congregation formerly met in a house on Walnut street, opposite Mr. Ensign's livery stable, but was compelled by circumstances, to build a church of their own. This was in 1864—said church being thirty feet by forty feet—is situated on the north side of Locust between First and Second streets, and is also used during the week for the German School of the congregation, attended now by fifty children. The minister lives in the back part of the house. J. Letz is the present pastor.

SECOND CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

This church was organized Sept. 23d, 1860; Elder Peter T. Russell officiating—with 20 members. Among the prominent members at that time were Jas. L. Scott, Charles Nichols, J. K. Gilcrest, David Hunter, Thos. Hendryx, Sam'l Bell, Anderson Simons, Sam'l Van-Cleve, and D. D. Skinner.

Since the organization, the church has had the pastoral labor of Elders, P. T. Russell, J. B. Noe, John Kimmons, and James E. Gaston, who is the present Pastor. Number of members 175. Their new house of worship just completed is on Cherry street immediately south of the Court House, is a neat and plain but substantial brick building 45 by 65 feet.

The Sunday School has 100 scholars under the care of E. M. Davis, the superintendent.

Services every Lord's day as follows: Sunday School at 9 o'clock A. M. Preaching at 10½ o'clock, A. M., and 7½ o'clock, P. M. Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock. Pews always free.

THIRD PRESBYTERIAN (N. S.).

The Third Presbyterian Church, of Des Moines (N. S.) was organized January 30th, 1864, with 20 members—Rev. J. Monroe Phillips commenced his labors with this congregation, on the 10th of July, 1863. The church has been favored with an increase of 50 per cent. to its membership since its organization.

The public services are at 10½ o'clock, A. M., and 7½ o'clock, P. M.

The Sunday School which is in a flourishing condition meets at 9 o'clock, A. M.

The communion seasons are quarterly, beginning with the first Sabbath in January.

This church was organized Nov. 26th, 1865. At the organization the church was composed of 82 members. Messrs. D. R. Hoxie, H. N. Weller and F. Beamer were elected Trustees.

Rev. A. M. Geiger became Pastor of the church Dec. 1st, 1865, and now sustains that relation. The church, as yet, has no house of worship, but contemplates erecting one within the coming year.

Stated meetings, for Divine worship, are held every Sabbath at 10½ o'clock, A. M.

BURN'S CHAPEL (colored).

This church was organized on the 8th of May, 1868. Through the liberality of the citizens a house of worship has been built on the east side of the river, in which regular service is had on Sunday, at 10½ A. M. and 7½ P. M. Rev. S. T. Wells is the pastor. It belongs to the Des Moines M. E. Conference. It has a Sabbath school, and is in a thriving condition.

RAILROADS.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific (late the Mississippi and Missouri) Railroad, is now completed to Kellogg, a distance of one hundred and thirty-seven miles. Construction is now going on, and it is expected the road will be opened to Des Moines in April, 1867.

The Des Moines Valley Railroad commences at Keokuk on the Mississippi River, and was completed to this city the first of September of the present year.

The Chicago and North-Western Railway commences at Chicago and will be completed to Council Bluffs, the western terminus, before the coming Spring. Direct connection with this road is now made at Ames' Station by coaches from this city.

The Iowa and Minnesota Railway, commences at this city, and is already under contract from this city to Ames' Station. From thence it will go northward to connect with the Minnesota Central Railroad to St. Paul.

The Ft. Des Moines and Kansas City Railroad is now surveyed and located from this city to Indianola in Warren county. Work will be commenced at once, and the road built at an early day, large subscriptions for that purpose, having already been made.

With the Chicago, R. I. & Pacific Road completed, to Des Moines, Polk County will have direct connection with Chicago, and St. Louis, two powerful competing markets, the importance and value of which will be incalculable to the development and prosperity of the city and county. Property which is now fluctuating between real and prospective value, will assume a more stable condition, increasing in wealth only in proportion to the growth of the city.

STAGES.

The Western Stage Company's coaches connect daily at Kellogg with cars of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific R. R., (formerly M. & M. R. R.). Passengers for this road take cars of the Des Moines Valley R. R., distance by stage 22 miles.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

There are two sessions of this Court held annually at the city of Des Moines, viz: On the second Tuesday of May, and the second Tuesday of October.

5th STREET, Opposite the Methodist Church.

AVENUE HOUSE,

COURT AVENUE - Between Third and Fourth.

We confidently extend to the traveling public an invitation to visit our House, fully satisfied that the treatment they receive, combined with our central location, will make them well pleased with the "AVENUE." It is our intention to keep a House where the guests will find all their wants anticipated by polite and attentive waiters, and receive all the comfortable pre-requisites of modern style, without the "flash" and "dash" and exorbitant prices which always accompany the largest sized hotels.

Omni-buses to the cars, and stages call for all points.
 Persons wishing to secure an attractive place to board, convenient to their business, can find a pleasant home here. All we ask is a trial.

NO LIQUOR BAR DISGRACES THE HOUSE.

JAMES H. LONG, Proprietor.
